Barnes and Biel in Easy Virtue

Hot Tickets

Easy Virtue

Yes, the story (based on Noel Coward's play) is enjoyable: John Whittaker (Ben Barnes) brings his new American race-car-driver wife (Jessica Biel) home to his family's English estate; much mayhem ensues. But see this one for the costumes: The 1920s-era glittering gowns, Marcel waves, high-waisted trousers, and fetching hats are even more delicious.

Away We Go

How do we know when we're truly "at home"? Catch a ride with parents-to-be Burt (John Krasinski) and Verona (Maya Rudolph) as they seek out the perfect place to start their family in this sparkly, wise gem. Directed by American Beauty's Sam Mendes; screenplay by Dave Eggers (author of the best-selling memoir A Heartbreaking Work of Staggering Genius) and Vendela Vida.

Terminator Salvation

Picture this Saturday night's conversation:

Him: "Honey, how about a movie? We could see..."

You: "Terminator Salvation? Great! I've always wondered if John Connor could beat those evil robots for good!"

Him: "I love you."

You: "I love you too." (Then, to yourself) "...and that yummy Christian Bale who plays John Connor."
